Kassini
Desking Range

Wire Management

Removable leg cable cover reveals wire management system.

Cables are discreetly accessed on the inside of the leg frame.

Shown without top panel, this image shows the full extent of the cable management system that Kassini offers. Data and power cabling can be separated within Kassini's horizontal cable trays and vertical leg cable management. Conforms to BS6396:2008 (Office Furniture & Desking Electrical Systems)

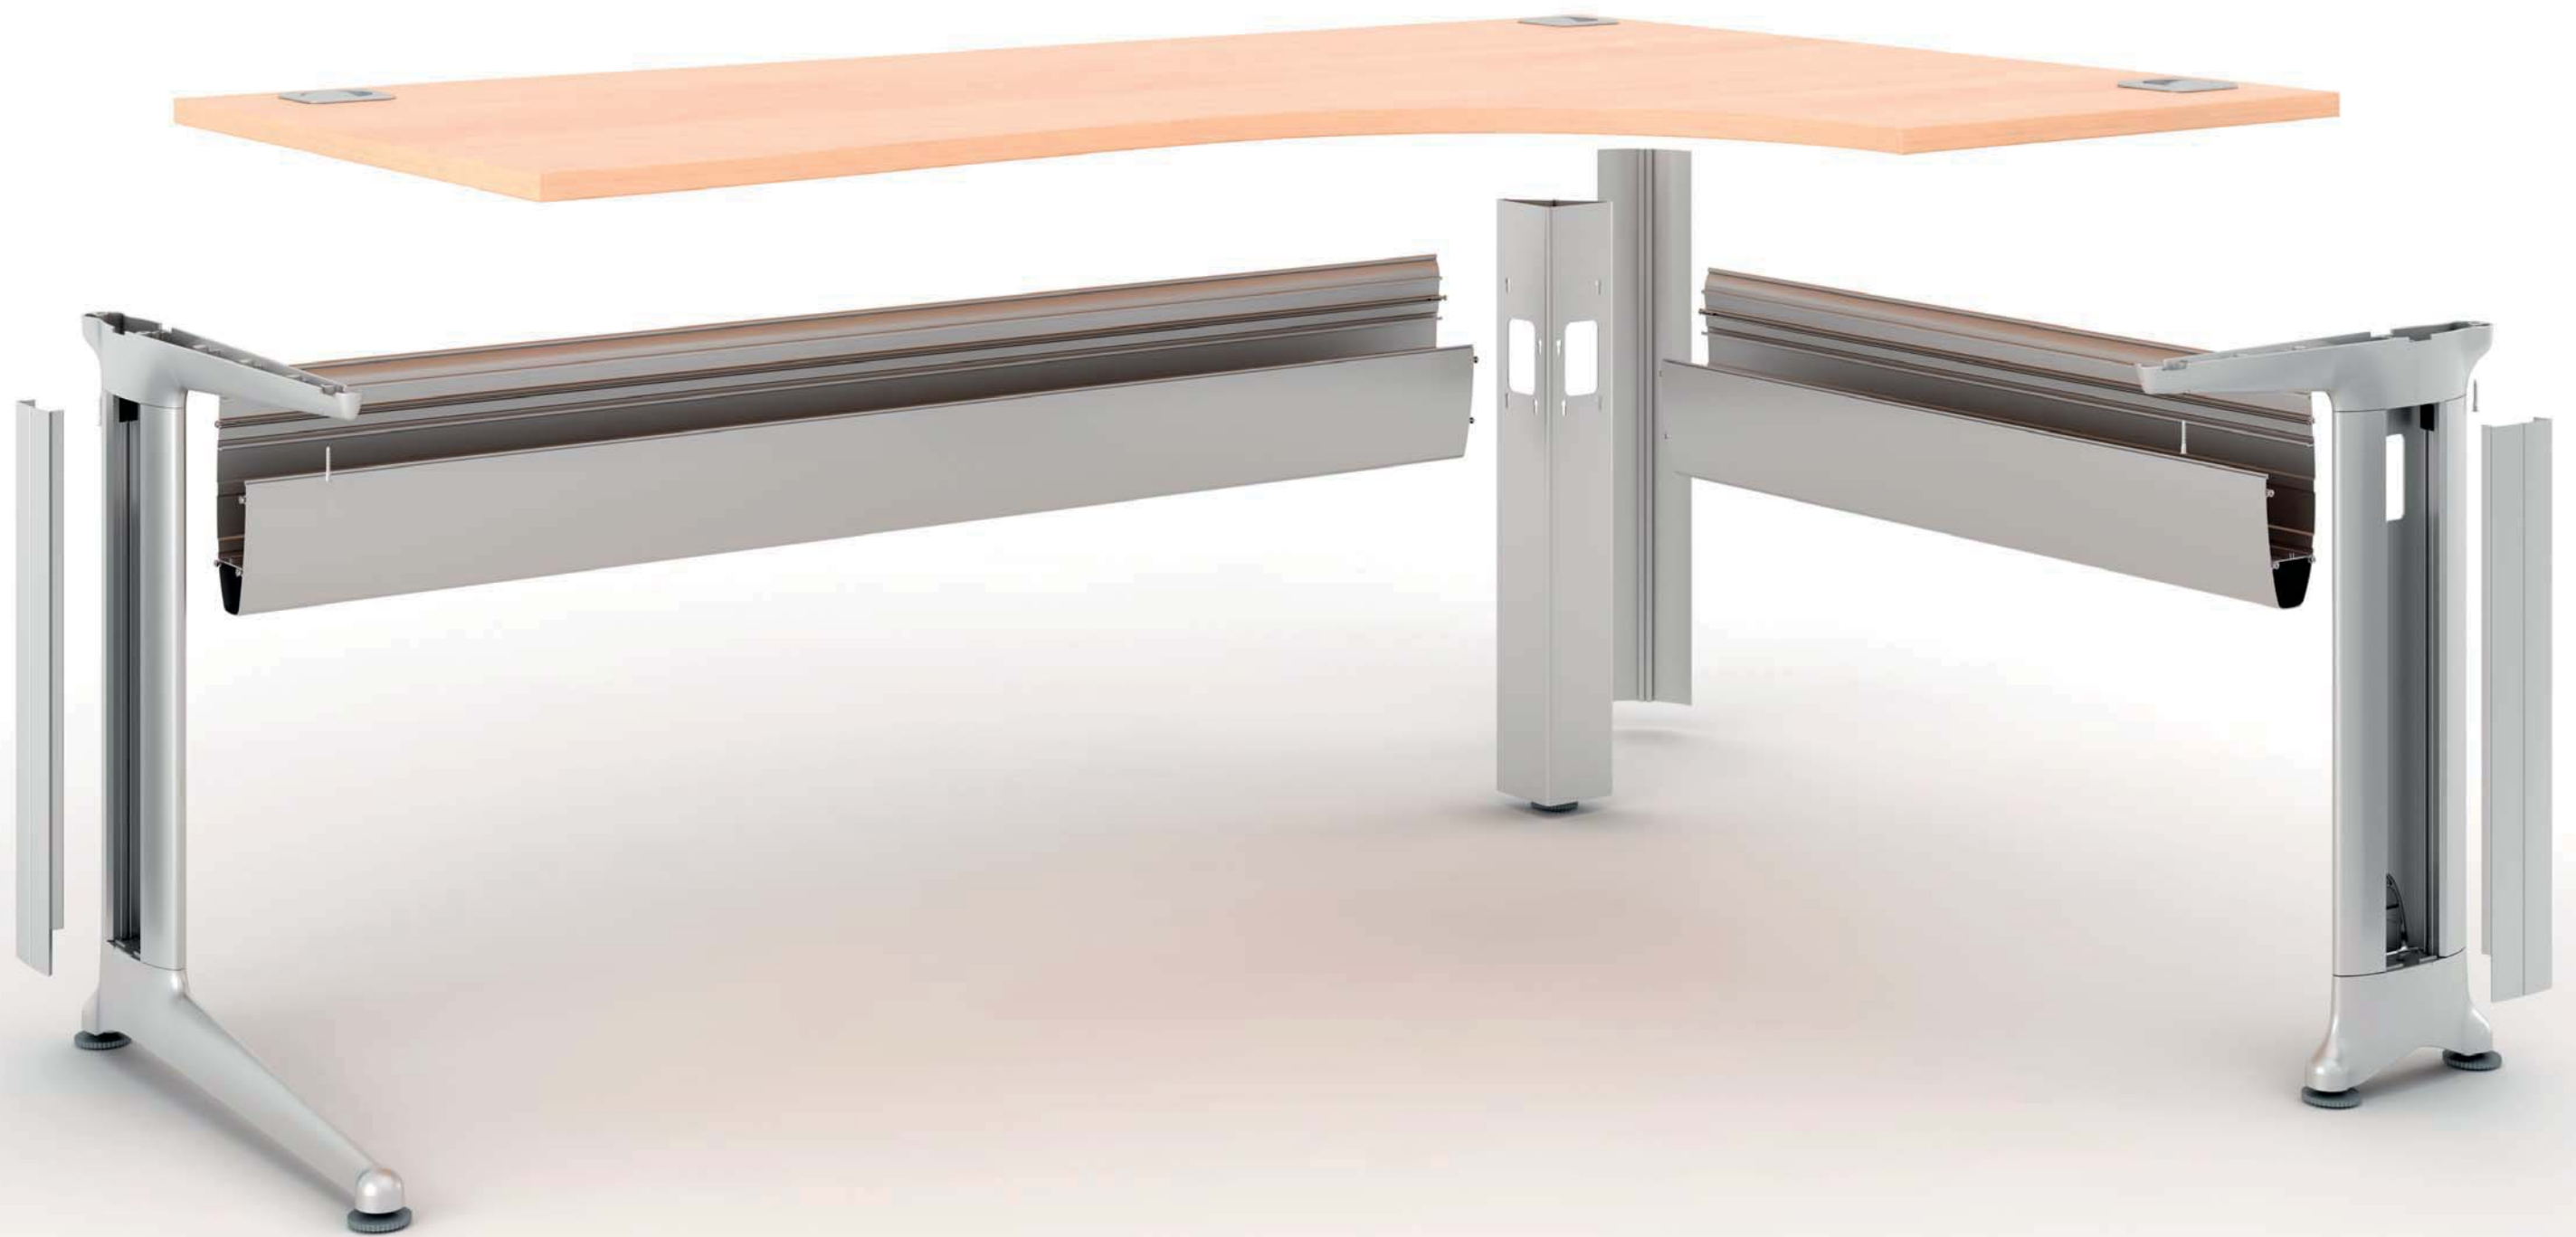

Square, modern cable ports are standard on all desking styles.

On Crescent workstations cabling can be directed through the corner leg by removing the cover plate.

Bow Fronted Desking

Kassini's design allows for an informal meeting area at the front of the bow fronted desk. The slight curve subtly creates a managerial position with the addition of a meeting facility, for instances where space for a meeting extension is limited.
